Report Name: Peru Hemp Implementing Regulation Open for Consultation

Country: Peru

Post: Lima

Report Category: Agricultural Situation, Agriculture in the Economy, National Plan, Policy and Program Announcements

Prepared By: Miluska Camacho

Approved By: Anthony Gilbert

Report Highlights:

On August 22, 2025, Peru announced a 90-day public consultations period on a regulation for hemp to implement Law 32195. Peru has not notified this standard to the WTO to date. Stakeholders should conduct their own review of the regulations to assess any market or regulatory impact on their business operations.

On August 22, 2025, the Peruvian Ministry of Agricultural Development and Irrigation (MIDAGRI) announced a 90-day public consultation period for a hemp draft resolution to implement Law 32195. The draft provides an opportunity for domestic and foreign interested parties to comment about the draft hemp licensing regime, handling, oversight, and compliance. Stakeholders should review the regulation to assess any market or regulatory impact on their business interests in Peru.

The deadline is November 20, 2025, and all interested parties are invited to submit comments to the following email address:

Email: ley32195canamo@midagri.gob.pe

The resolution is available at Ministerial Resolution 0319-2025-MIDAGRI and additional documents are included in this report.
