Report Highlights:

On April 27, the State Administration for Market Regulation (SAMR) released the 2022 Legislative Plan Work Plan. This report contains an unofficial translation of a select part of the Plan related to food and agriculture, including measures and laws concerning infant formula, foods for special medical purposes, geographic indications, and for the adoption of industry or international standards.

Summary

On April 27, SAMR released the 2022 Legislative Plan Work Plan, outlining priority legislation for SAMR divisions to finalize or advance in drafting process during the calendar year. The Plan lists a total of 69 legislative items, including 36 Category I items planned for finalization this year, and 33 Class II items, which will be launched or moved forward. The food and agriculture related items for finalization include measures on food quality and safety, business licensing, and food for special medical purposes (FSMP). Food and agriculture related items for launching or advancing include a law on geographic indications and measures for powdered infant formula.
