Report Highlights:

This report provides an update of the draft Food Safety Law in Cambodia.

General Information:

The draft Food Safety Law, which was going through the government regulatory process over the past three years with the assistance of the U.N.'s Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), was returned by the Council of Ministers for revision. The Ministry of Commerce and other line ministries are working on updating the draft with respect to responsibilities of the relevant ministries and agencies. The revised draft law is expected to be completed by the end of January 2018, and will be re-submitted to the Council of Ministers for review, and the National Assembly later for approval.
